Good Afternoon,

I live in South Ripley, as part of the Ripley Valley priority development area which is zoned for over 100,000 people. I discovered today that our community is literally being cut in half right through the centre and aligned with Greenbank.

I'm not sure why such a silly decision would be made, and suggest this is in complete conflict with the intended development goals of the Ripley Valley Region that should have contiguous representation at state level.

Regards,

Shaun Davey
