Hi Team,

The new seat of Nanango has divided our region with just a small area being left out. The village of Proston is separated from the village of Hivesville when that community work closely together. As Mayor of the South Burnett Regional Council I would like to see the whole of our region in the seat of Nanango rather than a small area now in Callide. The local member in Callide has a large geographical area and I am concerned that the small part that has been cut off from our region will struggle to get a voice. It does not make any sense with the small population that has been cut out of the seat of Nanango to divide our region and the community of interest.

Thanks,

Kathy
