Submission:

I flatly reject the proposed changes to the electoral boundaries and by extension the motivations behind them.

The proposed boundary changes are reminiscent of those enacted by Joh Bjelke-Petersen which represented a major departure from the spirit of democracy and the erosion of the people's right to be represented by the parliament.

Such a conspicuous political maneuver to circumvent the will of the populace is unbecoming of any party and deserves the full scorn of all people regardless of affiliation.

It is the right of any sitting parliament to shift the electoral boundaries to better able to serve the public and further enshrine the benefits of our voting system not to further contribute to the entrenchment of vested interests that foil it.
