Submission:

I would like to formally object to the name change to the Electorate of Ninderry.

The location of Ninderry is central to the Electorate and if anything does not single out a specific population or group within the electorate.

Unfortunately, the suggested name of Coolum does however indicate a specific coastal and fringe area within that Electorate and can easily conjure up associations with the population of Coolum as a town.

How a voter could associate themselves with Coolum living in say Mons or North Buderim, Eumundi or Bli Bli is beyond my comprehension.

If anything, I would propose the name of "Low" for the electorate after Hon. David Low who was instrumental for the development and representation of this Electorate geographic area.

But, should that not be considered, the name of Ninderry should remain.
