Arbitrarily redrawing electoral boundaries without agreement of ALL of the people's elected representatives, especially where the effect is to benefit one party over another, is a blatant attempt to undermine democracy and rig the system. Such manipulation silences and disenfranchises voters, distorts fair representation, and erodes public trust in the political process- which is at an all time low. It's almost inevitable that the government will go against the will of the people anyway.

This proposal must be rejected to protect the integrity of our elections and ensure every vote counts equally.
