The Hill set up has worked well and the standing member is a credit to his position. People know him and he his always there to answer questions and take on board our requirements. With a re distribution we would have to start again probably a person not known and probably the total area would go backwards for a long time as the area covered is vast located out in the bush where local experience is essential. Who ever thought up the redistribution was probably located in the South East and has no knowledge North of there. A better idea than redistribution would be a separate state as FNQ as FNQ people are the poor relations in Qld
