As a resident of Meringandan West. I appreciate that this would be a good change for the area. Highfields is where the majority of government, and commercial services are(for us), and the split between Meringandan and Highfields means that often, if there is an issue at a state level, quite often there has to be multiple offices involved in rectification. Additionally, as postcodes would dictate, the proposed additions to Toowoomba North are very much "Toowoomba"; Unlike Highfields and Meringandan West (etc.), which are separated by infrastructure, availability of services, and distance.
